foreword

The graduation of the class of 1957 marks the beginning of the second century of existence for Seton Hall University. The past one hundred years has been a time of fruitful achievement for her. In this span of years she has risen from a tiny liberal arts college to a university exerting a strong influence on all phases of human endeavor. Seton Hall, through its product, the Catholic educated man, has extended herself far beyond the geographic limits of her campus. She now stands, with the foremost institutions of higher learning of this country, as a preserver of the wisdom of the ages and a moulder of the thought of tomorrow.

The class of '57 is the first of the new century. This is our heritage. It has a firm, unrelenting foundation; we begin now to build the superstructure.

dedication

Behind every great human endeavor there is a man who translated the dreams of the dreamers into reality. Such has been the role of Reverend Michael J. Fronczak in the creation of the Seton Hall College of Medicine and Dentistry. To this task he has devoted his energies, his gifts, and the fruits of his long years of scientific training.

The matchless facilities, the peerless faculty and administrative body, the present greatness of our medical college and the rich promise of her future are in greatest measure the results of his untiring labor. To him go the gratitude of Seton Hall, the thanks of the people of New Jersey and the dedication of the Galleon for 1957.

let us pray

The 1950's are the beginning of a new age in the life of the Alma Mater. It is her "second spring". New buildings appear on a century old campus; increased opportunities for education; facilities hitherto undreamed of. It is, in the words of our president, "a great day for Seton Hall."

Whence shall come to us, the men of '57, the strength to meet the challenge of such giving? It will come from the heart of the Crucified, through the hands of His Mother.

May the thousands who will ever pass on the path that joins Our Lord and Our Lady see clearly that Seton Hall's great day is the love of the Son and the protection of the Mother. May they prosper always the "second spring".

TO OUR LADY
IN HER MARIAN YEAR WITH THE LOVE AND GRATITUDE OF THE

class history

The sound of the last great carillon is gone. Its vibrations have faded and been swallowed up by the night. Sunddenly it is dawn, and just as suddenly, it seems the world is no longer looking back upon a century of achievement but gazing instead into a future of even greater things for Seton Hall. The burden is ours to do with as we will, to fulfill the traditions of those who have gone before, to set new patterns for those who will follow.

The Class of 1957 is prepared to assume leadership. It has trained for four years for the hour of need. And yet, now that the hour has apparently arrived, it becomes more and more evident that we have instead a lifetime of challenge before us.

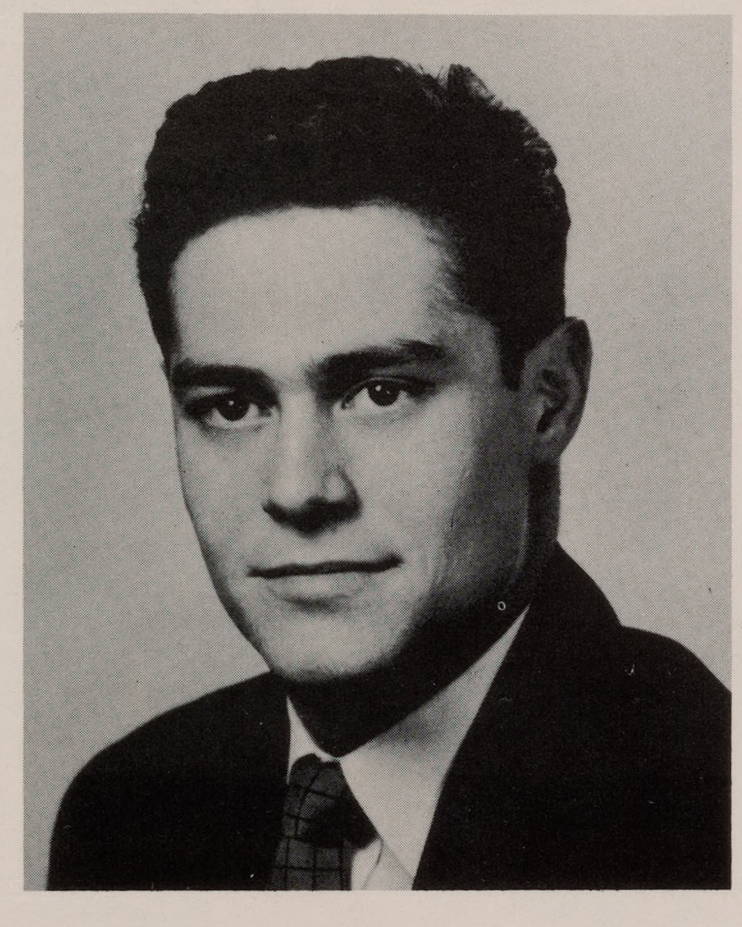

We have experienced the metamorphosis so usual to every college class. We entered the University in the Fall of 1953, each bringing something different to contribute and each seeking the same thing, though we pursued it by diverse means. As we grew in our knowledge of truth we became increasingly united as a class. This union was not haphazard, it has been aided by catalytic agents. Ours has been the heritage of vibrant leadership guided by the counsel of sage advisers.

By what right do we call ourselves united? What are the common experiences we have shared in our four years here? In truth, we have faced many problems and undertaken many projects since that Fall day when we all were introduced to college life. The common denominator of each of these activities has been success. Perhaps no other class has learned so well and so early the importance of working together. It is this spirit of cooperation which has been responsible for the achievements of this class.

What are the memories that we will carry forth with us? The impressive display of devotion as two thousand men received the Eucharist to end the first retreat . . . the thrill of seeing the campus grow before our very eyes . . . the wanderlust brought on by the first signs of Spring . . . the whirl and gaiety of our own Freshman Dance . . . students lounging beneath the trees, cramming for finals. Each new experience a stroke further into the onrushing current of college life.

With one year completed, the return to classes in sophomore year seemed an opportunity to enjoy the life of a carefree college boy. How quickly we discovered that instead we were settling down to work of a more serious nature. For the first time since we had entered any school, courses began to show direct relationships to each other. We heard professors discussing similar problems from various aspects in some classes, then heard other instructors talking of the very same question from a different angle in others. Wonder of wonders, education began to have a vital and cohesive meaning for us. It is not surprising that a number of our fellows constructed for themseives an intellectual hideaway into which they could retreat. Not all were ensnared by the labyrinths of our library. For some, sophomore year became an opportunity to share widely in extracurriculars and social events throughout New Jersey and New York. The athletes of our class gave rise to reputations which saw their fruition in our senior year.

New responsibilities and renewed associations awaited the Class of 1957 in its third year at Seton Hall. No longer underclassmen, we were looked up to by half of the Student Body as sources of authority and experienced advice. Success was the keynote of our every endeavor. Our services and our ideas maintained the rainbow of student activities that had developed during our sojourn here. We were responsible for the founding of new organizations to fill the needs of our broadened interests. The social affairs sponsored by the Class of 1957 will long be remembered by those who attended them. We were well prepared for the responsibility of leadership which we would inherit as Seniors. We rejoiced in the opportunity to share in the Centennial Celebration of Seton Hall University.

"Then suddenly it was dawn." How fleeting seems the memory of each year as we try to capture each one in its entirety. How fleeting too is the final year. The joy of anticipation of a new life is balanced by the sad realization that everything we do is final here. Everything we see, we see for the last time as students. No more will we share in the exhilaration of the hoarse crowd that cheers the Pirates to victory, no share in the long march down Broad Street in command of ROTC Cadets, no longer a share in the oneness of the Knights of Setonia at an early-morning Mass. As we watched the seasons come to the campus we realized that we had seen the last leave float down to its noiseless collision with the earth, the final blanket of snow change the campus into a strangely beautiful winter world, the carpet of green which would remain to witness our departure from this place. These are the memories that we will lock in our hearts and our imaginations. In this way shall we "sing her praise to highest skies and be ever faithful in her eyes". For we have seen her and known her. "Her name is Seton Hall".

class leaders

The national publication, "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges" through the cooperation of its member schools acknowledges the contribution of every outstanding American college student by publishing his name in this nationally famous scroll of honor.

The men from Seton Hall who have been so honored are all Seniors who during their collegiate careers have demonstrated superior scholarship, extraordinary achievement in student activities, loyalty and service to the University, and display unusual promise of future contributions to society.

who's who among students in american universities and colleges from seton hall university

D. Kevin Byrne

An ever present figure in student activities for his entire four years on the Seton Hall campus, "Buzzy" proved his versatility and ability to carry forth the interest of his fellow students by the numerous times he held the position of General Chairman of dances. One of his most outstanding feats was the successful and beautiful Junior Prom.

W. John Cooley

A man who instills a vital spark in any task he undertakes. Jack's enthusiasm, reliability and capability have constantly been tapped by others when a difficult problem presented itself. Under his tenure of office as president, Phi Beta Sigma has risen to a position of honor and esteem on the Seton Hall campus. He further lent of his talents to the publication of the 1957 Galleon Yearbook.

Edward J. Cryer

An outstanding athlete, and student activity coordinator, Ed found his home as Editor-in-chief of Seton Hall's newspaper, The Setonian. His diligent effort to mold an outstanding publication speaks for itself today. Certainly a firmer foundation could not have been laid for his successors.

John Deiner

Jack, a reliable "behind the scene" worker on behalf of Seton Hall, spent most of his career here on campus undertaking the most difficult of all jobs, advertising manager of both The Setonian and the 1957 Galleon Yearbook. His success need not be exhibited, for his achievements speak for themselves.

Bernard J. Doneski, III

Bernie's most outstanding contribution, on behalf of the R.O.T.C. Cadets, was in the position of Lt. Col. Battalion Commander, 2nd Bn., 8th Regt., Pershing Rifles. No higher military honor could be brought to the Cadet Regiment.

Frederick J. Duffy

President for two years of his class, Fred's work was continuously centered around the welfare of his classmates. We need only to recall the activities sponsored by Fred and his associates, to realize just how successfully he spent his time in our behalf.

Alphonse Janoski

By far a capable organizer, and an outstanding student, Al always performed his tasks with the well being of all his fellow students at heart. His most noteworthy contribution was in the office of President of the Academy of Science.

John Lynch

The type of man who labors for the joy of accomplishment rather than the glory of recognition. John has lent his talents to many a campus activity, always contributing vitally and never shirking a thankless task.

Stanley Kowalsky

Stan, predominantly interested in the educational value of student activities, continually strove to offer his classmates the opportunity of participating in the fields of their greatest interest. His sincere desire was fulfilled in his helping to found the Labor Relations Society of Seton Hall University.

John McKeon

John proved his ability as an outstanding student leader as the Regimental Commander of the Seton Hall University R.O.T.C. Cadet Regiment. His devoted interest in obtaining for Seton Hall the highest of esteem is vividly exemplified by his remarkable achievments and inspiring leadership.

J. Richard Monago

Dick, best recognized for his vigorous spirit and faithful concern, was one of the most outstanding Student Council Presidents at Seton Hall University. The members of every organization, fraternity, and club realize his ever present interest in their well being, and will never forget his unselfish willingness to assist in any way possible.

John Milano

The guiding hand behind the National Federation of Catholic College Students, Jack constantly sought to impress the influence of Seton Hall upon the campuses of other colleges and universities. With a firm belief in his fellow students he strove unendlessly in many capacities toward the bettering of student activities. From his position of Associate Editor, he greatly facilitated the publication of the 1957 Galleon Yearbook.

Daniel H. Murray

With deep concern for the whole of Seton Hall University, Dan sincerely performed the duties of Vice-President of his Junior and Senior Class. Always keeping a high regard for them, he never lost sight of his duty to promote the welfare of his fellow class mates and the glorification of Setonia.

John Musilli

The possessor of an outstanding personality and an enjoyable sense of humor, John has performed outstandingly as Sports Director and announcer for the Seton Hall University Radio Station, W S O U. His versatility enabled him to act in many capacities for other organizations including the 1957 Galleon Yearbook.

Gary A. Nardino

Gary has contributed of his talent and good taste to both Seton Hall student publications. He served as Associate Editor of The Setonian for two years and is the Editor in Chief of the 1957 Galleon Yearbook. He possesses one of the most distinguished records of service in the realm of student affairs at Seton Hall. During his four year career here, a host of activities and organizations have benefited from his enthusiasm, ability and leadership.

Matthew Natale

Few can deny the overall contribution Matt has made to the Seton Hall campus. His being held in highest esteem by his associates can be shown by his having held the office of President of the Alpha Kappa Psi Business Fraternity.

Lawrence Orlando

Larry is a most outstanding agent in the interest of his fellow students. He achieved deserved recognition in the office of President of the Marketing Club. The Marketing Club undertook numerous and successful enterprises under his direction.

Robert O'Brien

Bob, a steady worker and one who always performed his work efficiently when called upon, was never without the interest of Seton Hall at heart. His most beneficial function was in behalf of Phi Beta Sigma in the organizing of its orphanage Christmas party.

Joseph Potocki

Joe has proved himself to be an excellent coordinator, and because of his ability to work with others, he was able to perform many activities often considered nearly impossible. An outstanding example of his positive ability was his direction of the 1957 convention of the American Marketing Association.

Wondrous is the day of entrance upon the campus of a university for the men of a Freshmen class. The bewilderment of higher learning and its atmosphere tends to place an air of amazement on their features, and a "Frosh" can be readily distinguished from older scholars.

Before long, with high regard for their new venture, all are seen embracing their beanies and accepting without question their period of hazing, a traditional hazard facing all of their ilk. Then, it is all to pass, and with it their insecure tendencies. Soon, an overall change begins to form with their appreciation of scholastics and their reception of higher values. They now begin to perform activities commeasureate with their new position.

It is with much satisfaction that the upperclassmen and administration observe the new men organize and select their class officers, establish arrangements for their class dance, and begin to acclimate themselves to the scheme of college life. We watch them mature, both in years and in knowledge, to the point that soon we recognize the birth of men; men we are proud to say will be the backbone of Seton Hall University and its growth.

CLASS PRESIDENT William Keegan outlines the schedule of activities he has planned for the year at Freshmen Class Night.

REVEREND JOSEPH T. SHEA, University Director of Admissions, addresses the Freshmen Class at their Class Night.

SENIOR RONALD CICENIA contributed to the entertainment at Freshmen Class Night. Ronnie, a talented Pantomimist and comedian, was the highlight of the evening's program.

SMARTLY ATTIRED FRESHMEN amuse themselves and onlookers with a sprightly May Pole dance. The Hazing Courts brought to trial those Freshmen who were guilty of violations of the Freshmen Rule. Justice was meted out swiftly and without vengeance (usually).

THIS "FROSH" discovers that one of the traffic hazards encountered in motoring with a rakish low slung roadster is periodic gales of shaving cream. Student Council President Dick Monago, in derby, presided at the Freshmen Hazing Courts.

class of 1959

The advent of his second year in college brings about a startling change in a student. He is now a sophomore, an upperclassman. No more the unknowing, totally subservient Frosh, he now assumes an air of self-reliance and begins to seek the leadership of his fellows. His main preoccupation is the social aspect of college life and extra curriculars begin to assume an ever increasing role in his day to day activity. His new found importance is first directed toward the new Freshmen Class. The hazing program is his responsibility, and he rises to it with magnificent enthusiasm.

A sophomore is an innovator, he tries to improve on everything that has gone before him. He regards all that happened yesterday to be antiquated and of little value. His byword is ". . . lets give it a new twist." And very often he succeeds as can be readily seen in the success resulting in his efforts to do "something different" with his class dance. The Blazer Ball was a triumph, not only as an evening of music and dancing, but beyond this as the beginning of a tradition that should long exist at Seton Hall.

CLASS TREASURER Bill Blake and date at the Blazer Ball.

THE CONGA LINE is all but ancient history; however, the modern "bunny hop" answers man's desire to symbolize his quest for woman with a dance. Sound a bit far fetched? Then why, oh why the "bunny hop?"

THE BLAZER BALL of 1956 begins a tradition that should long exist at Seton Hall. This dance marks the official Recognition of a Sophomore as an upperclassmen and he is now entitled to wear the University blazer. Those appearing without blazers are probably upperclassmen who were doing their best not to be mistaken for Sophomores that night.

class of 1958

When a man reaches his third year in college the realization that he is midway in his collegiate career strikes him with brilliant clarity. Its half over, he looks back and recalls happy times well spent. Parties, dances, weekend nights at that favorite haunt of his crowd all blend into a picture of "good times had". This of course is not the end of the social phase of his education, for it will be extended and continued. But, a new view unfolds before him. He now begins to piece together the fortunes available through his college education. The time of academic application is now at hand, the time for concentration on that which should have been of primary concern from the outset.

With this awakening he responds to this newly found area of engagement and discovers that learning itself can be the most delightful of entertainments. And so, the enthusiasm that he exhibited in less aesthetic pursuits he now channels toward the attainment of knowledge and he begins to scale the mountain of education that had always been available but never before seemed an attractive peak to conquer.

Joseph Morrison
Treasurer

PRESIDENT James Penders and Junior Dance Committeemen take time out from their planning to flash a full set of pearly ones at the photographer.

THE END of a perfect evening: he, protective and pensive; she, tired and welcoming a shoulder to lean on.

THE SUCCESS of the Junior Dance was a direct effect of the planning and preparation undergone by the class leaders.

student council

The vital nucleus of extracurricular activities at Seton Hall University takes its form in the finely organized and well functioning Student Council.

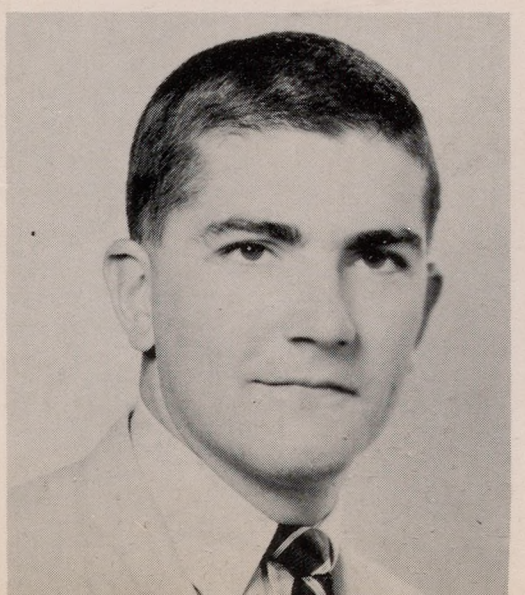

Displaying the keen efficiency characteristic of the past Councils of the University, the current governing body skillfully blends diligent planning, ardor, and competent leadership into a combination both valuable and praiseworthy.

The all important functions of student affairs revolve about this hub as it guides and coordinates. The results of this smooth operation have been the successful club affairs, class dances, proms, and sundry other projects which go together to form a noteworthy extracurricular calendar.

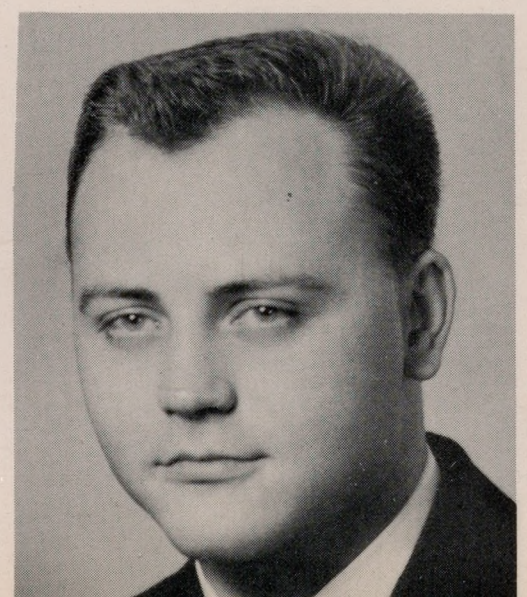

The rapid expansion of Seton Hall University has brought with it all of the increasing problems which go with a steadily growing institution. These formidable challenges have been well met by the Student Council and the outcome has been laudable. New clubs, new ideas, and solutions to old difficulties, all had life breathed into them in the Council Chambers.

A hand of gratitude is extended to this fine body of gentlemen and to their leader, J. Richard Monago. They have helped make Setonia better, prouder, and more memorable.

THROUGH THE EFFORTS of the Knights of Setonia, the Holy Eucharist has been raised to its deserved position of eminence in the heart of Seton Hall students.

knights of setonia

THE RIGHT REVEREND Monsignor Walter G. Jarvais and Brendon Morgan, Moderator and Commander of the Knights of Setonia.

"It is the desire of Jesus Christ and of His Church that every Christian go daily to Holy Communion".

These are the words of St. Pius X and they contain the inspiration for the Knights of Setonia. This organization is basically Eucharistic and all of its activities revolve about the Blessed Sacrament. Its purpose is the promotion of frequent Holy Communion among students of the University. Each student is given the opportunity to receive the sacraments weekly. This is the sole requirement for membership in the Knights.

Realizing the necessity for devoted reception of the Sacraments, Rev. James Carey established the Knights of Setonia many years ago. Through the devout efforts of the organization, the Holy Eucharist has been raised to a paramout place in the lives and hearts of the students. In establishing weekly confession and communion as a habit in the lives of Setonia's men, this fine society stands out as a shining instrument of the Cause of Christ.

THE LADIES of the Bayley Seton League serve a light breakfast to the Knights every Thursday and Friday.

CONFERENCE — John Musilli, Gary Nardino, Vincent Cerullo and Jack Deiner discuss the allocation of the budget for the Galleon.

The preservation of one year in the life of Seton Hall University, the recording of its graduates and the chronicling of its activities; this is the 1957 Galleon.

This is indeed an ambitious undertaking, one that demands great preparation and the concentrated efforts of the editors and staff.

The publication of this annual is the result of the combined activity of a staff of men who devoted much time and great interest to their task. Their reward is the finished product, printed and bound and admired and enjoyed by those who read it. This satisfaction is one that would be difficult to match; it makes the mild frustrations that always accompany a project of this type pass and be forgotten.

The extent of their reward is measured by the degree of your appreciation of the result of their efforts.

WSOU, the radio voice of Seton Hall, does all that and more. Since its inception in April, 1948, WSOU has maintained a daily schedule providing its listeners with programs of an educational, cultural, and informational nature. Under the direction of Reverend Thomas J. Gilhooly, Chairman of the Communication Arts Department, WSOU has added much prestige to the already distinguished name of Seton Hall. The coverage that the station enjoys reaches all sections of New Jersey and the New York metropolitan area and carries over into eastern Pennsylvania, Rockland and Orange counties in New York State, Connecticut, and eastern Long Island. The latest figures released by a national audience survey service show that WSOU reaches fifty thousand homes every week. WSOU also serves the students majoring in Communication Arts as an area of practical application of the courses offered by the department. The station is staffed by student personnel under faculty supervision and its programs range from the broadcasts of all the Pirate's home games, to complete opera in high fidelity.

the setonian

The Setonian, the official undergraduate newspaper of Seton Hall University, is a publication whose name is synonymous with good taste and ever-increasing quality.

The fine tradition which has come to be associated with The Setonian has developed over several decades of accurate news reporting and colorful features presentation. The idea for a student operated publication was given life in 1924, and journalistic-minded young men poured their time and talents into the project, which grew steadily in size, coverage, and prestige. With the advent of World War II, publication was interrupted for four years. The restoration of peace in 1945 brought about the rebirth of The Setonian. It immediately regained its old vigor and Seton Hall watched it forge on to new heights of progress.

The success story of The Setonian lies in constant improvement and innovation. Smooth management has recognized the value of a varied format so that editions now include news, sports, features, editorial coverage, and notices of interest.

Constant expansion over thirty-two years, characterized by spirited determination on the part of the gentlemen who made it operate, has made The Setonian the fine journalistic effort that it is today.

phi beta sigma

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity now enjoys the distinction of being one of the leading student organizations on the Seton Hall campus. This eminence stems from the very nature of the Fraternity, in that its members are those students who have exemplified leadership in other campus groups. Only those students who have displayed outstanding ability and have contributed to the extra-curricular structure of Seton Hall are accepted for membership.

Applicants for membership are exposed to a pledge period that graphically portrays to them the object of Phi Beta Sigma. During the pledge period these applicants perform duties that assist many of the campus student organizations. The interest and ability shown by the pledge in the performance of these tasks is the factor that influences his final acceptance for full membership in the Fraternity.

The motto of Phi Beta Sigma is "Honor, Service, and Brotherhood". The members of Phi Beta Sigma daily display their right to the possession of such a motto. These men have time after time sacrificed personal interest to serve Seton Hall and the student body. However, this service is not without reward, the esteem in which members of Phi Beta Sigma are held by the student body, the faculty and the administration of Seton Hall University is sufficient remuneration for duty well done.

society for the advancement of management

Mr. William J. Doerflinger
Faculty Advisor

This campus organization is sponsored by the Northern New Jersey Chapter of the S.A.M. and is a highly active member of the National Chapter. The policies and special programs of the Society are designed to foster and develop interest in the specialized and scientific skills of management.

The Seton Hall University Chapter has as its chief function, the production of graduates who are more versatile in their scope of activity and interest. The finished product is the only criterion by which the chapter can measure its success, and, thus far the accomplishments of its graduates have justified its reason for existence.

THE SOCIETY for the Advancement of Management concentrates its activity in those fields that waken the interest of the student of business in the scientific approach to business management. # economics club

To promote a more searching concern in the science of economics, over and above that which is developed in the classroom, a group of dedicated young men founded this club in October of 1953. In the relatively short period of its existence, the organization has worked fervently to establish itself as one of the most prominent in the extracurricular system.

The labors of many earnest gentlemen have, in this brief four year period, made the Economics Club a proud instrument of its department and also a vital component to the Seton Hall University scheme.

The use of well chosen educational media such as films, lectures by well known economists, and frequent field trips has given members an excellent opportunity to glean information far beyond ordinary book learning.

alpha kappa psi

The Gammi Pi Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, first and oldest business fraternity, became the 82nd member of the National Chapter and Seton Hall's first fraternity. Founded at New York University in 1904, the fraternity aims at furthering he individual welfare of its members and fostering scientific research in the fields of commerce, accounts, and finance. It further desires to promote in institutions of college rank, courses leading to degrees in business administration.

Alpha Kappa Psi has grown so rapidly that today it is the largest professional fraternity in the United States, listing 84 undergraduate chapters and 58 alumni chapters.

Gamma Pi Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi was founded at Seton Hall University in 1954, and now has a roster of 42 members. An alumni chapter will open shortly at Seton Hall.

To qualify for membership a student must be enrolled in the school of business administration; intend to obtain a degree in business administration; possess a grade average of not lower than "C"; possess satisfactory ability and potentiality for business success; and be interested in the advancement of professional ideals and activities.

MISS MARJORIE GORRLOFF, Personnel Manager of Bambergers, Newark, addressed the Marketing Club at the Annual Marketing Mixer.

The Seton Hall student chapter of the American Marketing Association stands out as one of the most active clubs on campus. The Marketing Club first appeared at Seton Hall University in December, 1950, and has since undergone a rapid growth.

Local members benefit highly by their affiliation with the national organization. In addition to the continuous contact which is established between students and leading men of the marketing field, the Club accomplishes its purpose by the combination of theory and action. Throughout the year, prominent businessmen and women are invited to speak at meetings, educational films are presented, and many members attend regional conferences of the A.M.A.

Seton Hall is well represented at business conventions in the Metropolitan Area. This varied program has as its end the development of the student into a capable and proficient marketing man.

The Marketing Club sponsors a social calendar that is among the most ambitious on the Seton Hall campus. Its annual Marketing Mixer in the Fall establishes the rhythm for a series of activities that is further highlighted by picnics, holiday parties and banquets.

The huge body of this club gains, through its well coordinated administration, a balanced background in the field of accounting. The diverse activities of the society are designed to round out the theory wrought in the classroom. This end is accomplished through a varied program of field trips, educational motion pictures, and valuable addresses by gentlemen in the profession.

One of the factors responsible for the success of the Accounting Club is its lively social program. On the agenda are such refreshing activities as a banquet, several stag parties, and the Annual Award Dinner.

st. thomas more pre-legal society

The purpose of the St. Thomas More pre-Legal Society is to acquaint the prospective student of law with a practical knowledge of the law and to familiarize him with the different specialized fields of law he can enter. To accomplish this end, speakers are invited to address the group to present the future barristers with some information in regard to the advantages and disadvantages of the various phases of the profession.

The International Relations Club gives the Seton Hall student an opportunity to gain a fuller understanding of diplomatic policy.

In order to make more lucid the often puzzling business of foreign affairs, the I.R.C. offers its members a fine program of comprehensive and practical information, made possible chiefly through the fine speeches delivered at club meetings by various foreign delegates. Through membership in the International Relations Club, one may gain a much better understanding of the dealings between our nation and other powers.

The experience gained as a member of the club is valuable and useful to the student. A full knowledge of foreign affairs is essential to the well educated gentleman. The I.R.C. does its part by sharpening this facet of information. Mr. Charles Stephano, club moderator, deserves much of the credit due this fine society.

brownson debating society

The Brownson Debating Society is the official representative of Seton Hall University in the area of inter-collegiate forensic activities.

The Society inherits its name from Orestes A. Brownson, a convert to Catholicism and leader in the fields of journalism and education. The primary aim of this organization is to develop the public speaking ability of undergraduate students through the use of logical reasoning and effective rhetoric.

This year, the society has obtained the services of Matthew Farrell to instruct the new members in the fundamentals of debating procedure. Under the guidance of its moderator, Rev. Francis Nead, the Brownson Debating Society has participated in several major inter-collegiate tournaments. Included among these were the University of William and Mary, St. Joseph University, and West Point debate tourneys.

education club

The education of our youth is necessary to the maintenance of the United States as a great power. The Education Club of Seton Hall University is deeply concerned with the fostering of this cause through the development of fine teachers.

Students with a sincere interest in the field of education are welcomed into the club. They become acquainted immediately with the Catholic Philosophy of instruction. This philosophy is integrated into the modern techniques now being practiced. The club member is familiarized with the opportunities offered by surrounding school systems.

This extensive program is carried on further to include guest speakers at meetings and observations in public school classrooms.

Members of the education club also find time for a well balanced social program. The schedule is illuminated by a Christmas benefit for a deserving charity and an annual dinner in tribute to those most responsible for the club's success.

glee club

What is there in a male choral group that strikes a responsive note in an appreciative audience?

The reason for the praise earned by our Glee Club at colleges throughout the east lies in painstaking rehearsals, and a deep desire for perfection.

All voice sections are contingent upon one another and are eagerly responsive to the deft appeals of the director, Father Joseph Flusk. He has done much to mold the Glee Club into the fine vocal aggregation that it is.

As in former years, many women's colleges and several Catholic and civic organizations in the Metropolitan area have enjoyed the refreshing program of vocal music served up by the "Ambassadors of Song".

The warm overtones of harmony heard at such a performance as the Annual Spring Concert are expressive of the camaraderie prevalent among Glee Club members. The applause of an appreciative audience is the final satisfaction reaped by this organization which is such a great credit to Seton Hall.

GONZOLO FERNANDEZ' stirring rendition of Granada was a highlight of the Marymount, New York City, concert.

GLEE CLUB members state that the sole attraction to belong to this fine choral group is the satisfaction attained by pleasing an audience with harmonious melody. However, the attention Jack Milano is receiving from these Marymount of New York lovelies following a concert tends to suggest that there might be a less altruistic reason for membership in the club.

The National Federation of Catholic College Students embodies a nationwide network of Catholic colleges fused together by cooperation and close relationship.

The Federation's main functions are to facilitate the work of various extra-curricular groups on campus and to take active part in the program of the nation-wide organization.

The opinion of the American Catholic College student is well represented in those areas of busi-nss, political, and social life affecting student interest. It may be said with certainty that the NFCCS stands out as one of the associations most responsible for the progress and succes of the Catholic system of higher education.

Since its organization in 1946, the Academy of Science has grown to be one of the largest chapters of the American Chemical Society Student Affiliate Chapters in the United States. It is also one of the most active societies on the Seton Hall University campus.

The purpose of the group is to broaden the student's outlook both socially and scientifically. In the realm of social activities, the Academy sponsors an annual banquet, lecture socials with neighboring women's colleges, and inter-collegiate meetings.

The professional and scientific aims of the Academy are accomplished by numerous lectures arranged under the auspices of the parent organization. Each year, men prominent in chemistry, biology, medicine and the other sciences lecture at meetings and aid the student members in matters concerning their future careers. These outstanding men of science help the undergraduates by arousing their interest in some particular phase of the specific science they are currently studying. Along with these talks there are arranged tours of various industrial plants in the Metropolitan area.

THE PRESIDENT and Faculty Advisor of the Seton Hall University Mathematics Club: Bernard Villa and Dr. Joseph W. Andrushkiw.

Science and Mathematics majors at Seton Hall University show a keen interest in the recently reorganizd Mathematics Club. This year membership was increased greatly, an even finer program was drawn up and the slide rule manipulators made fine showings at mass conferences.

Highly responsible for the success of the club was the mutual interest shared by each member. The sincere desire to become highly proficient mathematicians manifested itself at meetings highlighted by lively discussions of new ideas, and the pursuit of fresh methods in this ever growing branch of science.

The Math Club is a vigorous body of men. Its chief value lies in its ability to bring together minds intent on solving the timeless perplexities confronting men of science. It serves Seton Hall as a useful member of campus society. It will serve the nation equally well as it helps develop men capable of spearheading scientific progress.

— 1957

Seton Hall has enjoyed the reputation of being a major basketball power in the East for several years, listing a National Invitation Tournament Championship in 1953 among its achievements. The Pirates of 1956-57 once again found themselves slated to take top honors among the college teams in the nation. Not since the days of Dukes, Regan and Co. had a Pirate ball club been so highly touted in pre-season ratings published in the national basketball magazines. Formidable clubs such as Temple, Canisius, Columbia, and Manhattan were overlooked as Seton Hall was chosen the top rated team in the East.

Of course these predictions were not unfounded. There were many factors which contributed to the Hall's expected court supremacy, and there was no disputing the facts. Dick Gaines, who last year had earned a place on Look's All-America squad while averaging 20.3 points a game was returning along with Charley Lorenzo and Marty Farrell, two veteran Pirate performers. This trio of regulars was backed up by a deep reserve of well seasoned players. Speedster Paul Szczech and big 6-9 Tom Cross were expected to take over nicely where Eddie Petrie and Richie Long had left off. Ed Chesney, an improved player over last year, was a strong contender for a starting berth, as was John Keller who had recently returned to the Pirates. Other possible starters included Phil Samuels, Richie Buckelew, Dick Brightman, and Vinnie Ryan. The club was blessed with more speed, height, and depth than any other Pirate team for some time, and with the ambitious schedule arranged by the Director of Athletics, Revered Thomas Fahy, the atmosphere surrounding Setonia was pervaded by a feeling of high optimism.

As things turned out, Seton Hall didn't quite live up to their expected greatness. The Pirates finished the season with a 17-9 record, not a good one, but not a bad one either. The team looked very impressive in victories over Western Kentucky, La Salle, Temple, Cincinnati and Canisius, however they appeared somewhat disappointing in their defeats at the hands of Lafayette, Fordham, and Muhlenberg. A hot-and-cold type of basketball plagued the Hall most of the season, never permitting them to put together more than three victories in a row. The Orange Bowl Tourney in Miami over the Christmas holidays proved especially disastrous for the Pirates, when they dropped two out of three games and emerged sixth best in an eight team field. Coach Russell was having difficulty in finding a fifth man to work with the already smoothly operating quartet of Gaines, Farrell, Lorenzo and Chesney. Paul Szczech, the fastest man on the squad, was used frequently along with Tom Cross who was well on his way in developing into a polished player. Unfortunately for the Pirates, Tom was sidelined by studies at mid-year, and Szczech was kept out of action frequently because of his battles with the virus bug.

Late in the season Coach Russell inserted Ronnie Berthasavage into the lineup. Ron, a junior, played his first full game against La Salle at the Palestra which the Pirates went on to win 70-61. With Berthasavage in the lineup the club caught fire, as they put together a five game winning skein against the better clubs on the schedule. La Salle, Canisius, Georgetown, Cincinnati, and St. Peter's all fell before the Pirate Sword, and the climax of this late season surge was the Pirates' gaining an N.I.T. bid — their seventh, and third in a row.

Dick Gaines led in individual scoring honors, winding up the campaign with a 20.8 average as compared to the 20.3 points per game he averaged in 1955. He broke into the 1000 point club at the Scranton game in which he scored 32 points. His season total for this year is 570 points, and his career total is 1,511, second only to Walter Dukes who amassed 1,789. He has broken the career record of Dukes' which was 19.8 per game, and he also holds the record for points in one half when he hit for 24 in the Georgetown game, and in this same game he threatened Dukes' one game total record of 41 when he caged 37. In the Temple contest Gaines set another record when he sank eleven consecutive free throws. All in all, Gaines had a great Senior year, placing first in scoring and assists, and a close third in rebounding. Trailing close behind Gaines in the scoring honors are Charlie Lorenzo and Marty Farrell. Charlie had 341 points this past season for a game average of 13.6, and he had one of the hottest nights of his college career against Niagara when he canned 29 points, hitting on 14 of 21 shots. Farrell was also a vital cog in the Pirate machine, placing first in the rebounding department, and getting 330 points with a field goal average of 43% and 73% from the foul stripe. Ed Chesney, the fourth graduating senior, was used extensively by Coach Russell in spots where his superior rebounding ability would do the most good.

Seton Hall 87 Toronto 52

December 1, 1956

A capacity crowd of 3400 spectators turned out to watch the 1956-57 version of Seton Hall's basketball team. They were not disappointed as they saw a tremendous team effort bury the Toronto Blues under an avalanche of points, 87-52.

The starting five consisted of Marty Farrell at center, Charlie Lorenzo and Paul Szczech at the forwards, and Dick Gaines and Johnny Keller at the guards. They raced to a 20 point lead at the 10 minute mark and played only 15 minutes throughout the entire game. At the half the score was 45-28.

Substitutes played almost all of the second half and showed that Coach Russell was going to have great bench strength for the rest of the season. The four new Sophs, Richie Buckelew, Phil Samuels, Dick Brightman, and Vince Duffy, along with such returnees as Julius Nicolai, Vinnie Ryan, Tony Comeleo, and a much improved Ed Chesney, easily outplayed the Toronto Varsity until the final buzzer. Marty Farrell with 14, and Charlie Lorenzo with 12, were the only Pirates to hit double figures, but every man on the squad chipped in with at least 2 points.

Seton Hall 98 Roanoke 51

December 4, 1956

In another tuneup before going on the road the Pirates of Seton Hall toyed with Roanoke while sending them down to defeat, 98-51. The Virginians were never in the game as the starting five of Gaines, Lorenzo, Keller, Farrell, and Tom Cross racked up a huge bulge at the 11 minute mark and then left the cleanup to the subs. The whole team played in the first half as the Hall raced to a 53-22 halftime lead.

Coach Russell substituted freely after only four minutes of the second half had passed but he had to call upon a freeze with two minutes to play in order not to hit 100 points. As in the Toronto victory the squad played together and every man looked good. Gaines, Farrell, Lorenzo, and Samuels all hit double figures with Dick pushing in 19 while only playing about 20 minutes.

SCRANTON PLAYERS look on as Paul Szczech (4), of the Pirates does a few fancy stunts. Tom Cross (14), and Dick Gaines are also interested bystanders. The Hall edged Scranton, 86-78.

Seton Hall 86 Scranton 78

December 7, 1956

The Pirates took to the road for the first time this year and had a real scare before turning back Scranton 86-78, before a jam-packed crowd in the C.Y.O. Auditorium.

The Hall looked sluggish after the long bus ride and trailed after 10 minutes of play, 25-23. A big southpaw Sophomore named Ed Kazakavitch was pumping in hooks and jump shots from all angles, and kept the Miners in contention throughout the first half. His 19 was high at the half. Only after the insertion of Paul Szczech at the 12 minute mark did the Hall begin to move and with Gaines, Cross, and Lorenzo scoring heavily they rolled to a 54-45 halftime lead. In doing so they set a new record of 18 straight foul shots.

Scranton started fast at the outset of the second half and the Pirates two big men, Marty Farrell and Tom Cross were both shackled with four personal fouls. Ed Chesney entered the fray and did a great defensive job on Kazakavitch. With 1:10 to go the Pirates led 83-74 and with 28 seconds remaining, Dick Gaines iced the contest with two fouls, his 999th and 1000th points of his career. Thus he became the Fourth Seton Hall player to score 1000 points, joining Walt Dukes, Richie Regan, and Pep Saul in this exclusive club. Dick had 32 for this game and was helped by Lorenzo's 15 and 13 each by Farrell and Cross.

DICK GAINES (9), tries a lifty hook as "Bo" Ellis prepares to grab the rebound. Dick's long arm tactics have been one of the reasons for his high scoring average this year.

Niagara 83 Seton Hall 63

December 8, 1956

After catching a 12 p.m. train from Scranton to Buffalo the Pirates came-a-cropper against the Purple Eagles of Niagara at the Memorial Auditorium.

The trip seemed to have tired the boys and the play was sluggish. Niagara completely dominated the boards, taking rebounds away from the taller Pirates. To add to our woes the shooting eyes of four of the starters were way off. Only Charlie Lorenzo, who hit on 14 of 21 shots, for 29 points, was hot, and his scoring kept the final result from being more disastrous.

The Purple Eagles, led by big Alex (Bo) Ellis, who had 26, took a 9 point halftime lead and increased it at the outset of the second half. They were never in trouble from the 5 minute mark of the last half. Dick Gaines was the only other Pirate in double figures with 16.

Seton Hall 78 Western Kentucky 69

December 13, 1956

Just before the Pirates were to make their first visit to Madison Square Garden word was received that Johnny Keller and Vince Duffy probably would both be lost for the rest of the season as a result of injuries. This was a hard blow, especially since it came on the eve of the game with 15th ranked Western Kentucky.

The Hall, despite a 45% shooting average by the Hilltoppers, put on a terrific display of team passing and shooting which was too much for the Kentuckians to handle. Dick Gaines played a superb floor game and hit for 17 points. Marty Farrell with 15 and Charlie Lorenzo with 10 also helped out, and Vinnie Ryan and Richie Buckelew had three important buckets each. Ed Chesney really battled off the boards and Ron Berthasavage and Dick Brightman also proved their worth.

Most of the Pirate fans were hoping this kind of team spirit and hustle would prevail throughout the season.

Seton Hall 83 Loyola of Baltimore 68
December 15, 1956

Loyola of Baltimore proved no match for the improving Pirates although they did hold us to a 43-34 halftime lead. The game was marked by rough and tumble play and tempers flared several times during the first half.

The Hall, after a slow start, finally broke loose at the 16 minute mark of the second half, as Dick Gaines and Tom Cross cleared the boards and set up the fast break. The starters built up a 67-49 lead with 9:46 remaining. At this point Gaines fouled out but the visitors could not cut into the lead, even against the second and third strings. Gaines with 16, Lorenzo with 14, Szczech with 13, and Cross with 10 were the leading scorers, but all but three men chipped in with a few points.

Ronnie Berthasavage

Seton Hall 88 Boston College 76

December 22, 1956

In this final tuneup before departing to Miami to compete in the annual Orange Bowl Tournament, the Pirates of Seton Hall subdued the Eagles of Boston College 88-76. Coach "Honey" Russell used this game to help him decide what ten players to take to Florida.

The subs had plenty of chance to show their talents as the first five ran up a quick fifteen point bulge. But prosperity was not to stay as the Eagles cut the deficit against the second team, and at the half the score remained close.

The Varsity returned at the start of the second half and ran the Eagles into the floor. This time, when the second stringers came back, they were vastly improved, and even built up the final margin of victory. Dick Gaines and Marty Farrell scored 21 and 19 points respectively, while Charlie Lorenzo and Paul Szczech each had 12. Coach Russell decided to take the following boys to Miami: Gaines, Lorenzo, Szczech, Farrell, Cross, Chesney, Ryan, Buckelew, Samuels, and Berthasavage. Ronnie won the berth on the flip of a coin from Dick Brightman.

ORANGE BOWL TOURNAMENT

Pittsburgh 76 Seton Hall 66

December 27, 1956

The Pirates journeyed to Miami and drew Pittsburgh as their opening round opponent. The Hall was tight and it was easy to see they were pressing and this resulted in a very poor night for the entire squad.

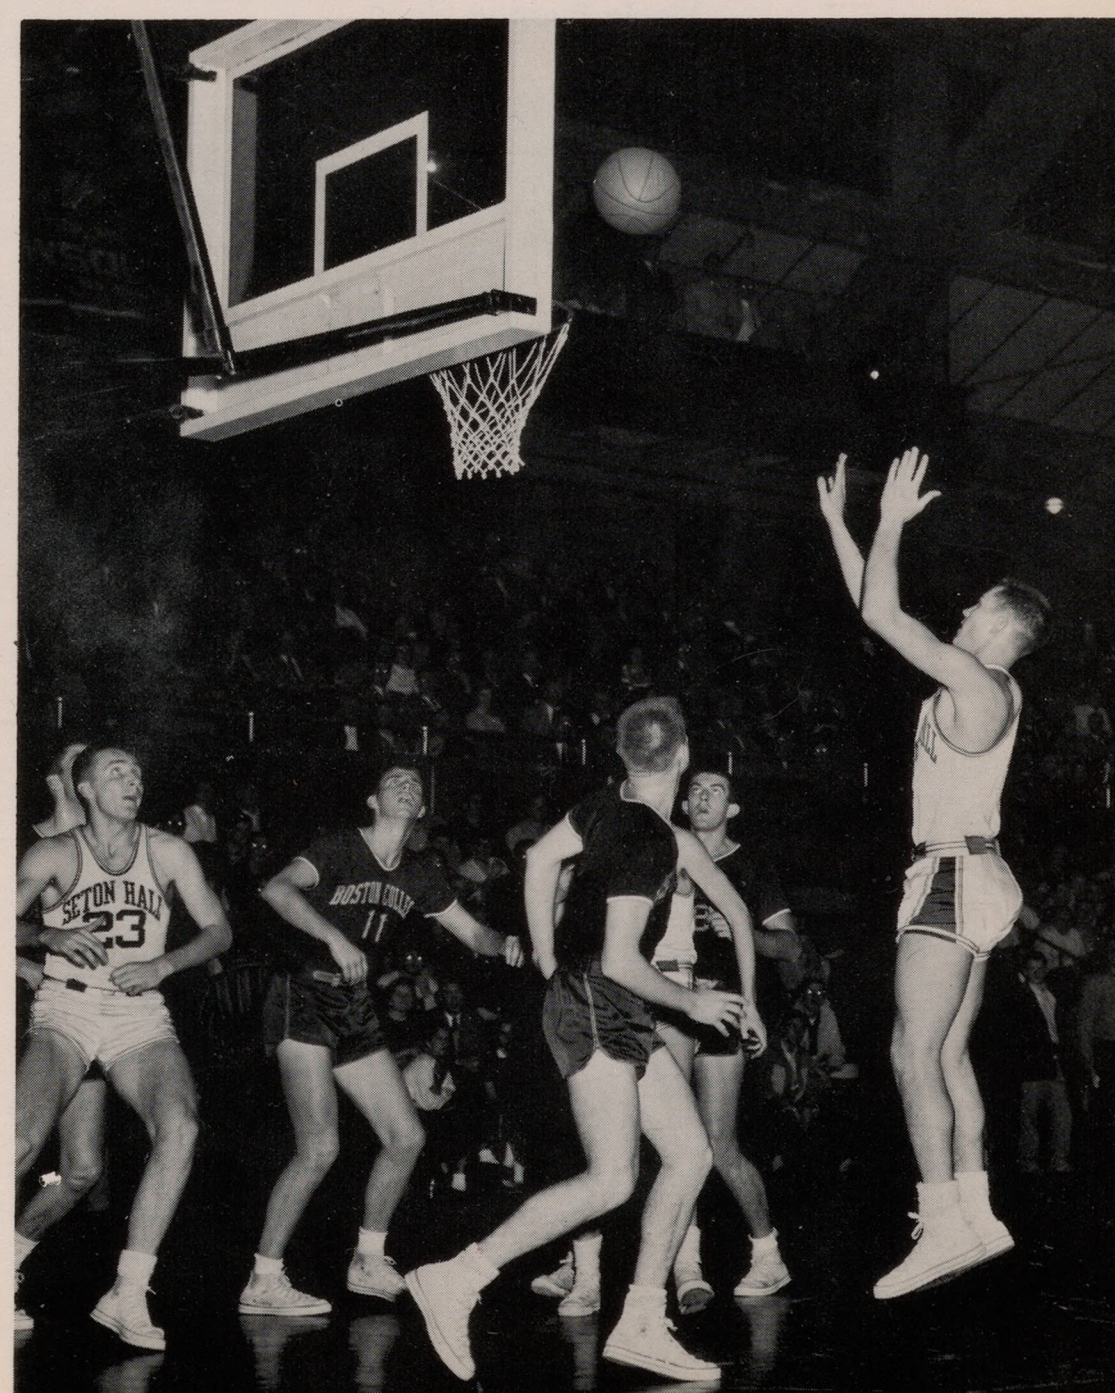

The big men, Marty Farrell, Ed Chesney, and Tom Cross were out-rebounded 58 to 31, and the two top scorers, Gaines and Lorenzo, failed to prduce their usual quota. Chink had only 10 points and Charlie was shut out completely. Meanwhile Pitt, led by Don Hennon who had 19, ran up a 10 point bulge and kept it there throughout the contest.

One bright spot for "Honey" Russell in this first round loss was the showing of Vinnie Ryan and Richie Buckelew. Vinnie led the Pirates in scoring with 13 while Buck hit for 10 and played a fine floor game. These two proved they could play under pressure and thus would bear watching in the future.

LaSalle 82 — Seton Hall 72

December 28, 1956

The Hall, who was a pre-tournament favorite, continued to confuse the experts by dropping their second consecutive 10 point loss to LaSalle, 82-72.

This loss was due mainly to two factors. One was inept foul shooting. The Pirates hit on only 10 of 26 tries for 39%, and many of the misses came on the first shot of a one-and-one situation. The second factor was a sub-par performance by Dick Gaines, who was suffering from a bad cold in his back. The illness caused Dick to leave the contest early and although he led the Pirates in scoring with 17, his rebounding was severely hampered.

LaSalle, led by Al Lewis who scored 20, jumped off to a quick lead which they never relinquished, even though the Hall pulled close midway through the second half. Farrell and Lorenzo had 15 and 12 points respectively, but the play of Buckelew and Berthasavage really impressed the fans and Coach Russell.

THE SYMBOL of Pirate opponents is hanged in effigy at the annual pep rally.

CHARLEY LORENZO gets his jumper away despite the attempted block by a Miami player.

Seton Hall 92 Miami 80

December 29, 1956

The boys salvaged a little glory in the Tournament by turning back Miami, the host club, by a score of 92-80. A new star was found as Paul Szczech ripped the cords for 27 points, most of them on driving layups. Marty Farrell chipped in with 22 and Gaines had 14. Coach Russell benched the Varsity first team at the start and the second stringers, again led by Buckelew and Berthasavage, held the Hurricanes at bay. When the first five did come in they looked like a new ball club, and quickly ran Miami into the floor. Chesney and Farrell finally began to rebound, with Marty really standing out with 18 rebounds and 7 assists.

An odd feature of this Tournament was the final standing of the teams. Western Kentucky and Seton Hall, the Pre-tourney favorites, ended up in the last two spots, while a dark horse, Connecticut, swept to the title.

Richie Buckelew

Tony Comeleu

TOM CROSS (14), towers over Bruce Riddell (21), of Albright as he hauls down a rebound. Marty Farrell (12) tries to help as does Albright's Storms (22), and Eckhardt (10). Pirates sailed over Albright, 92-72.

Seton Hall 92 Albright 72

January 5, 1957

The game between Seton Hall and Albright marked one contest where both sides of the Pirates' "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" qualities were evident. Before a crowd of 3000 saw the Pirates crush a hustling Albright team, 92 to 72. Dick Gaines went on a second half scoring spree, and broke a record set by Walter Dukes in 1952 against Kings College. Big Wally had scored 24 points in the second half of that game, but Gaines bettered the mark when he collected 26 points on 8 fouls and 10 goals.

At the opening tap, Albright quickly assumed possession of the ball, and their shooting accuracy and rebounding soon contributed to a commanding lead of 10 points, 24-14. The Hall was floundering around on the court, not doing much while Albright was hustling all the time. Seton Hall grabbed the lead for the first time at the eight minute mark, 30-23, on Charlie Lorenzo's seven straiaht points.

The complexion of the game changed completely in the second half. Seton Hall rang up six straight points to take a 40-36 lead, and from that time on they were never seriously challenged again. Dick Gaines, who had 3 points in the first half, found the mark repeatedly. The fans saw a completely different Gaines, as he hit for 8 for 8 from the charity stripe, and 9 for 17 from the floor. Gaines topped both teams in the scoring, netting 29 points. Riddell was high man for Albright with 23.

MARTY FARRELL and Jim Kelly of Albright fight for a rebound.

Wake Forest 64 Seton Hall 55

January 10, 1957

The Pirates journeyed to Madison Square Garden to meet a nationally ranked Deacon club in the second half of a college doubleheader. Lorenzo opened the action with a jump shot to give the Pirates a quick 2-nothing lead. In the opening minutes of play both teams were wary of the other, and a cagey type ball was played, with neither side dominating the action. At one point, the Hall caught fire and surged into a commanding lead. During this drive the Pirates reeled off sixteen points while the Deacons had five. The Pirates were clicking nicely as a team and both defense and offense was operating smoothly against the highly touted Deacons. Wake Forest began to play a very deliberate type of ball game, usually waiting for a good shot and not missing. By the end of the half, the Pirates' lead had been whittled down to two points.

The Hall held on to their slim lead during the opening minutes of the second half. However, after about five minutes of play, the Deacons tied the score and then began to pull away slowly. Jim Gilly, the big center for Wake Forest was a prime factor in their drive, scoring on jumpers, hooks, drives, and sets with deadly accuracy. With five minutes left to play, and an eight point lead the Deacons put on the deep freeze. The Hall tried vainly to get possession, only to foul repeatedly. Wake Forest kept up their freeze until the clock ran out.

Jules Nicolai

MARTY FARRELL trips the twines against the Deacons of Wake Forest as Charlie Lorenzo and Ed Chesney watch. The Hall dropped a tough one to the Deacons at the Garden by a 66-59 decision.

EVERYONE WANTS THE BALL. Cross (14), Samuels (23), Lorenzo (17), and Berthasavage (8), battle Foreman (12), and Snider (13) of Albright.

TOM CROSS (14), and Marty Farrell (12), battle with Temple's Jay Norman for a rebound. Looking on are Mel Brodsky (9), and All-American Guy Rodgers of the Owls. The Pirates trimmed the Owls 66-59.

MARTY FARRELL gains a goal despite the hindrance of Temple's Jay Norman (6), and Don Fleming (17).

Seton Hall 85 St. Francis (Pa.) 65

January 12, 1957

The Pirates got back on the winning side at home court, defeating a scrappy Frankie team 85-65. Tom Cross grabbed the opening tap and shot a pass underneath to Lorenzo for a quick deuce.

The Frankies employed the all court press frequently in the second half in a desperate attempt to bottle up the Pirates, who were scoring more or less at will. The press proved costly to St. Francis, because they fouled continuously. Gaines made 9 trips to the foul marker in the second half. Samuels scored at the closing buzzer to give Seton Hall a twenty point spread in the final statistics, 85-65. Gaines was the leading scorer in the game with 24 points, closely followed by Lorenzo who had 20. Leonard Nixon had 19 points for the losers.

Seton Hall 66 Temple 59

January 18, 1957

The high Flying Owls of Temple University stormed into the Setonia Fieldhouse determined to put down Seton Hall and add another name to their already long list of conquests. The gym was packed to standing with the huge crowd that had come to see All-America candidates Guy Rodgers of Temple and Dick Gaines of Seton Hall. Rodgers won out in individual scoring besting Gaines 25-24, but Seton Hall turned the trick, beating Temple 66-59 in a closely contested game.

Rodgers opened the second half with a spectacular driving layup, but his efforts were to no avail as the Pirates, under the influence of sparkling plays by Gaines, Farrell, Lorenzo and Buckelew held Temple at bay, leading at one point by eighteen points.

Villanova 95 — Seton Hall 92

January 26, 1957

The Villanova Wildcats edged past Seton Hall in overtime, 95-92, to hand the Pirates their sixth defeat of the current campaign, and their first loss on their home court. Another capacity crowd saw a thrilling game go right down to the wire and almost end in another deadlock in overtime.

The second half had much the same shooting accuracy on the part of both teams. With six minutes to go Villanova got a big break when Gaines, who already had 26 points went out on fouls. Seton Hall managed to hold on to an eight point lead by freezing the ball, however, with two minutes remaining Villanova broke the freeze and with two seconds on the clock, Jim Smith converted two fouls to knot the score 84-84. As the game entered overtime, Griffith fouled out with 25 points. Pirate fans breathed a sigh of relief, but the relief was short-lived as Jim Smith came to the fore for the Wildcats and almost won the game single handedly. Smith had nine points for the Wildcats in the overtime period, converting five of seven important foul shots. Lorenzo kept us in shooting range all through the overtime period, and the Pirates put on a belated rally with less than a minute left, but fell short 95-92.

HIGH FLYING Paul Szczech (4), nets a layup despite the outstretched arm of a Niagara defender. The Pirates dropped their first game of the season to the Purple Eagles by a 83-63 count.

Seton Hall 80 — St. Francis (Bklyn.) 71

January 28, 1957

Seton Hall traveled to Brooklyn to battle the Terriers at the Brooklyn Armory. In a game that wasn't decided until the last minute of play, the Pirates downed the Terriers, 80-71.

The story was repeated in the second stanza. Gaines again opened with a basket and the Pirates built up a sixteen point bulge before the tormented Terriers called for time.

Farrell and Chesney aided the Pirate cause by rebounding off both boards and Gaines and Lorenzo were finding the mark without much trouble, but still the Terriers refused to be beaten. They came within four points for the third time, but a three-point play by Gaines put the Hall out in front by seven. Yellen of St. Francis countered with a three-pointer to make the score 75-71.

Lafayette 72 — Seton Hall 69

January 19, 1957

The Pirates, fresh from a victory over the high flying Owls of Temple the preceeding night, migrated to Easton to encounter a strong Lafayette club. Seton Hall had a record of ten wins and four losses going into the scrap, while the Lafayette team loomed as an easy win, having done poorly record wise thus far in the campaign.

The action started with a quick score by Gaines, who hit on a jumper from 20 feet out.

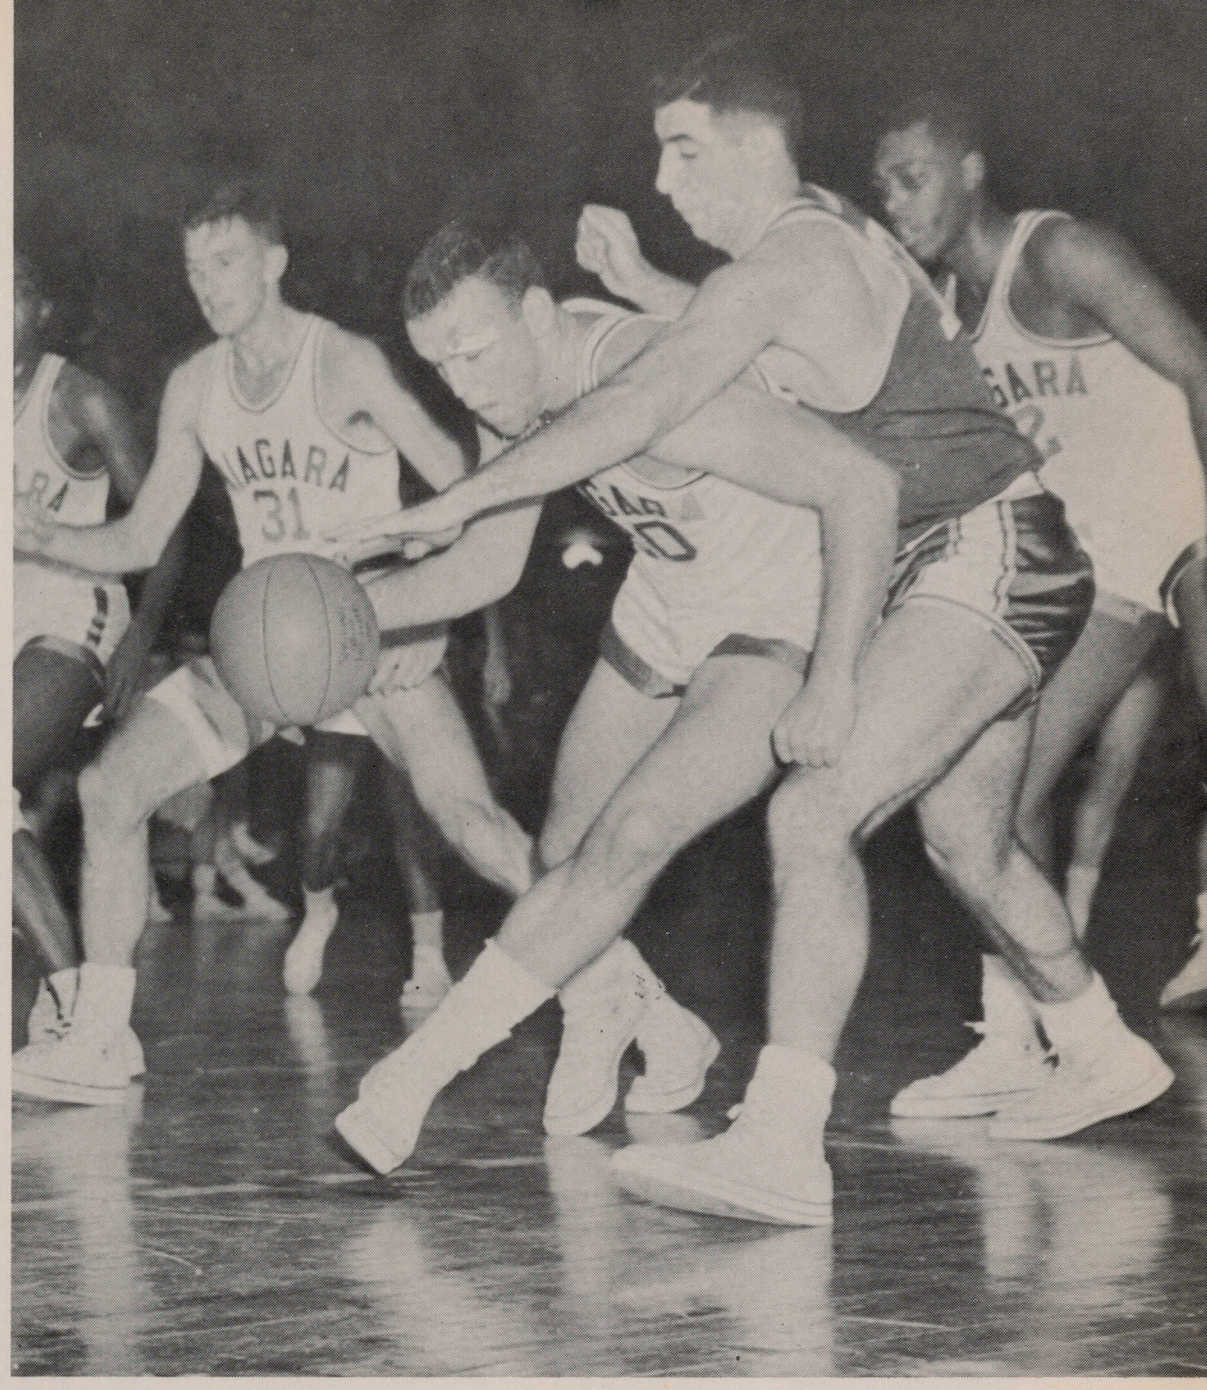

Seton Hall took the lead repeatedly in the second stanza, but the final statistics showed a 72-69 victory in the books for Lafayette.

Seton Hall 80 — Iona 66

February 2, 1957

The Pirates returned to South Orange to take on the Iona College Gaels. A sparse crowd of 1400 saw the Hall breeze past Iona 80-66. The game began slowly, each side taking an occasional shot. Play became sloppy as the Pirates batted the ball around and threw away passes, but they managed to hold a comfortable lead. The main factor in the victory for the Pirates was their tremendous height advantage. Hotshot Tom Cross, and Ed Chesney's work off the boards, spearheaded Seton's halftime lead, 43-36.

The sharpshooting of Gaines and Lorenzo in the second half opened up a lead of ten points for the Pirates. Joe Bernardi, the captain of the Iona club, was the big story for the Gaels. His clutch shooting and great playmaking kept the Hall's lead from getting too far out of reach. However, the Pirate height was too much for the Gaels, and they couldn't put a dent in the lead.

CHARLIE LORENZO almost steals it away from an unidentified Niagara player.

Temple 70 Seton Hall 51

February 8, 1957

With two consecutive victories under their belt and a tough schedule remaining, the Pirates traveled to Philadelphia for two important games at the Palestra. On Friday night they encountered Temple, whom they had beaten earlier in the season. This time the Hall didn't have the stuff, and Temple ran over them 70-51.

In the second half things got worse for the Pirates. Rodgers opened the action with a long push shot, and before the slipping Pirates could trip the twines once, the Owls were off and winging on a fifteen point wingspread. The Hall tried repeatedly to put a nick in the Temple lead, but to no avail. The Pirates lacked hustle and spirit and soon it was evident that Temple was on their way to a victory.

The Pirates got hot at this point; a jumper by Gaines, a layup by Farrell and another by Farrell put the Hall into the lead by three. From that point on, Seton Hall was never headed although LaSalle threatened seriously one or two times.

Seton Hall 70 La Salle 61

February 9, 1957

Seton Hall avenged an earlier defeat by the Explorers as they manifested a great amount of hustle that was lacking in the Temple game the night before. A small, but noisy group of Setonians was on hand to see the Pirates come away with the win and cheered with every play.

From the opening tap, the Pirates wasted no time in showing LaSalle who was going to be in the driver's seat.

Seton Hall 102 — Canisius 87

February 13, 1957

The Canisius College Griffins, the toughest team on the Pirates' schedule came to the South Orange gym in quest of an N.I.T. bid. The Canisius club had a long list of victories under their belt, listing among the vanquished, Niagara, Bradley, St. Bonaventure, and other top clubs in the nation. The Griffins themselves were ranked fourteenth nationally as they entered the fray against the Pirates. Seton Hall rose to the occasion and met the challenge admirably, much to the surprise and delight of the 3400 fans that were packed into the fieldhouse. The Pirates played their best game of the campaign, crushing Canisius 102-87.

Seton Hall 99 — Georgetown 91

February 16, 1957

The Pirates journeyed to Washington to meet a tough Hoya quintet at the latter's fieldhouse. The Hall was putting their 14-7 mark on the line, while Georgetown had a 9-8 record thus far in the campaign.

The end of regulation play saw a surprising Hoya splurge tie up the game at 79-79, and the game entered overtime. However, in the extra time period Seton Hall settled down considerably and threw in 20 points to the Hoyas' 12. The Pirates pulled it out of the fire, 99-91.

DICK GAINES drives around Joe Springer of the Griffins on his way for two of his total of 34 points. The Hall scored a surprising upset victory over the nationally ranked Canisius club, 102-87.

ED CHESNEY (13), and Marty Farrell (12) listen to the sage instruction of Coach Russell during the Canisius encounter.

REACHING for the sky. Dick Gaines shows his amazing rebounding prowess as he outleaps a Bearcat giant. Chesney (13), and Farrell (12) are set to aid "Chink". The Pirates scored a big win over the N.I.T.-bound Bearcats in Madison Square Garden, 80-67.

MARTY FARRELL leans in to tap in a bucket against St. Peters. Gallagher (6), Banas (11), and Morano (21), try to stop him.

Seton Hall 80 Cincinnati 67

February 21, 1957

Seton Hall played the last of their three game season set at Madison Square Garden against the highly regarded Cincinnati Bearcats, who had received an N.I.T. bid three days prior to the game. Seton Hall was out to break the three game jinx, and Cincinnati was trying to continue their court supremacy over he Pirates which they had held for two years running. The Pirates were represented by a large group of noisy enthusiastic fans as they wore down the Bearcats, 80-67.

Cincinnati got right down to business at the opening tap, when Jack Gumbert hit on a long jumper.

The second half took up exactly where the tirst had left off. With Berthasavage and Lorenzo doing a magnificent job on feeding, Gaines, Farrell, and Chesney poured a steady stream of Pirate points through the cords. The Bearcats were not giving up the ghost easily. At the thirteen minute mark, and a 57-44 lead by the Pirates, Cincinnati put on a concentrated effort to wrest the lead from the Bucs, but they were matched goal for goal by the Hall. The pace became increasingly tougher for the Bearcats to follow, and they faltered.

ALL FOUR SENIORS get into the thick of things as Farrell grabs off a rebound against Cincinnati.

A DEUCE for Gaines. Dick hits for a bucket against the Bearcats.

MISS GLADYS GOODING smiles as she plays the Seton Hall Alma Mater during the Cincinnati battle.

FOUR AGAINST ONE. Farrell (12), Ryan (3), Berthasavage (8), and Chesney (13), gang up on Tom Gaynor (9) of the Peacocks. The Pirates squeaked by the traditional rivals in the last second of play, 81-80.

Seton Hall 81 — St. Peters 80

February 23, 1957

This game proved to be the most exciting one of the season from the standpoint of thrill-a-minute ball playing.

Things went on in rapid succession in the second stanza. After building up a six point lead, the Pirates had to keep fighting desperately to maintain it. However, with exactly two minutes to go, St. Peters tied the score at 77-77, and went into a deep freeze. Phil Samuels fouled Dooley of the Peacocks, and Dooley made one from the foul line to put Peters into the lead 78-77. Seton Hall took over, and Richie Brightman sank a long one hander. There were thirty seconds remaining when Morano hit on a long jump shot to edge St. Peters ahead again 80-79. Ron Berthasavage brought the ball down right into the midst of the Peters defenders and then passed off to Samuels all alone under the hoop who laid it up and-in on a beautiful play. With four seconds remaining Morano took another long shot at the cords, but this time he missed, and S. H. had it, 81-80.

DICK PENQUE, the Pirate manager, makes out the final scoring statistics after the Muhlenberg game.

CHARLIE LORENZO sneaks a jumper past the outstretched arm of Jay Olmstead (7), of the Peacocks. Dooley (4) and Morano (21), get ready to try for the rebound.

CHARLIE LORENZO pushes up a one-hander as Berthasavage (8), stands by. Jeffries (36), and Gall (32), of the Mules look on helplessly.

Fordham 76 Seton Hall 75

March 2, 1957

The Pirates, now N.I.T. bound as a result of their late season splurge of impressive victories, traveled over to the Bronx to do battle with the Rams in Fordham's Gym.

The Pirates started out very nicely with Gaines and Farrell hitting on drives, but Fordham was definitely out to upset the South Orangemen, and they stayed with it. The Rams pressed hard and the Pirates found the pesky tactics too much for them to overcome. Seton Hall fought back valiantly but could never get the game tied. With the clock running out, the Men from Setonia put on a belated rally, and with seconds to play the Rams lead was cut to two, 76-74. Phil Samuels drove in from the right of the foul lane and put in the tieing bucket at the buzzer, but it was disallowed as Marty Farrell was fouled before the shot. The game was now over, but Farrell still had two shots coming to him. The crowd watched in complete silence as the first foul swished the net, and then a tremendous roar filled the gym as the second shot by Farrell popped in and out to give Fordham a squeaker, 76-75.

"COME HERE", Phil Samuels says as he battles for a rebound with Gemma of Muhlenberg.

PHIL SAMUELS (23) goes high to score a deuce against St. Peter's. Kennedy (14), and Morano (21) try for the ball as Berthasavage (8), watches.

Muhlenberg 76 Seton Hall 65

March 9, 1957

Seton Hall traveled to Allentown to encounter Muhlenberg for the last game on the 1956-57 slate. The Muhlenberg Gym was packed to the girders with 3400 noisy fans including a marching band. The Pirates gave their poorest showing of the season as Muhlenberg came away with an easy victory 76-65.

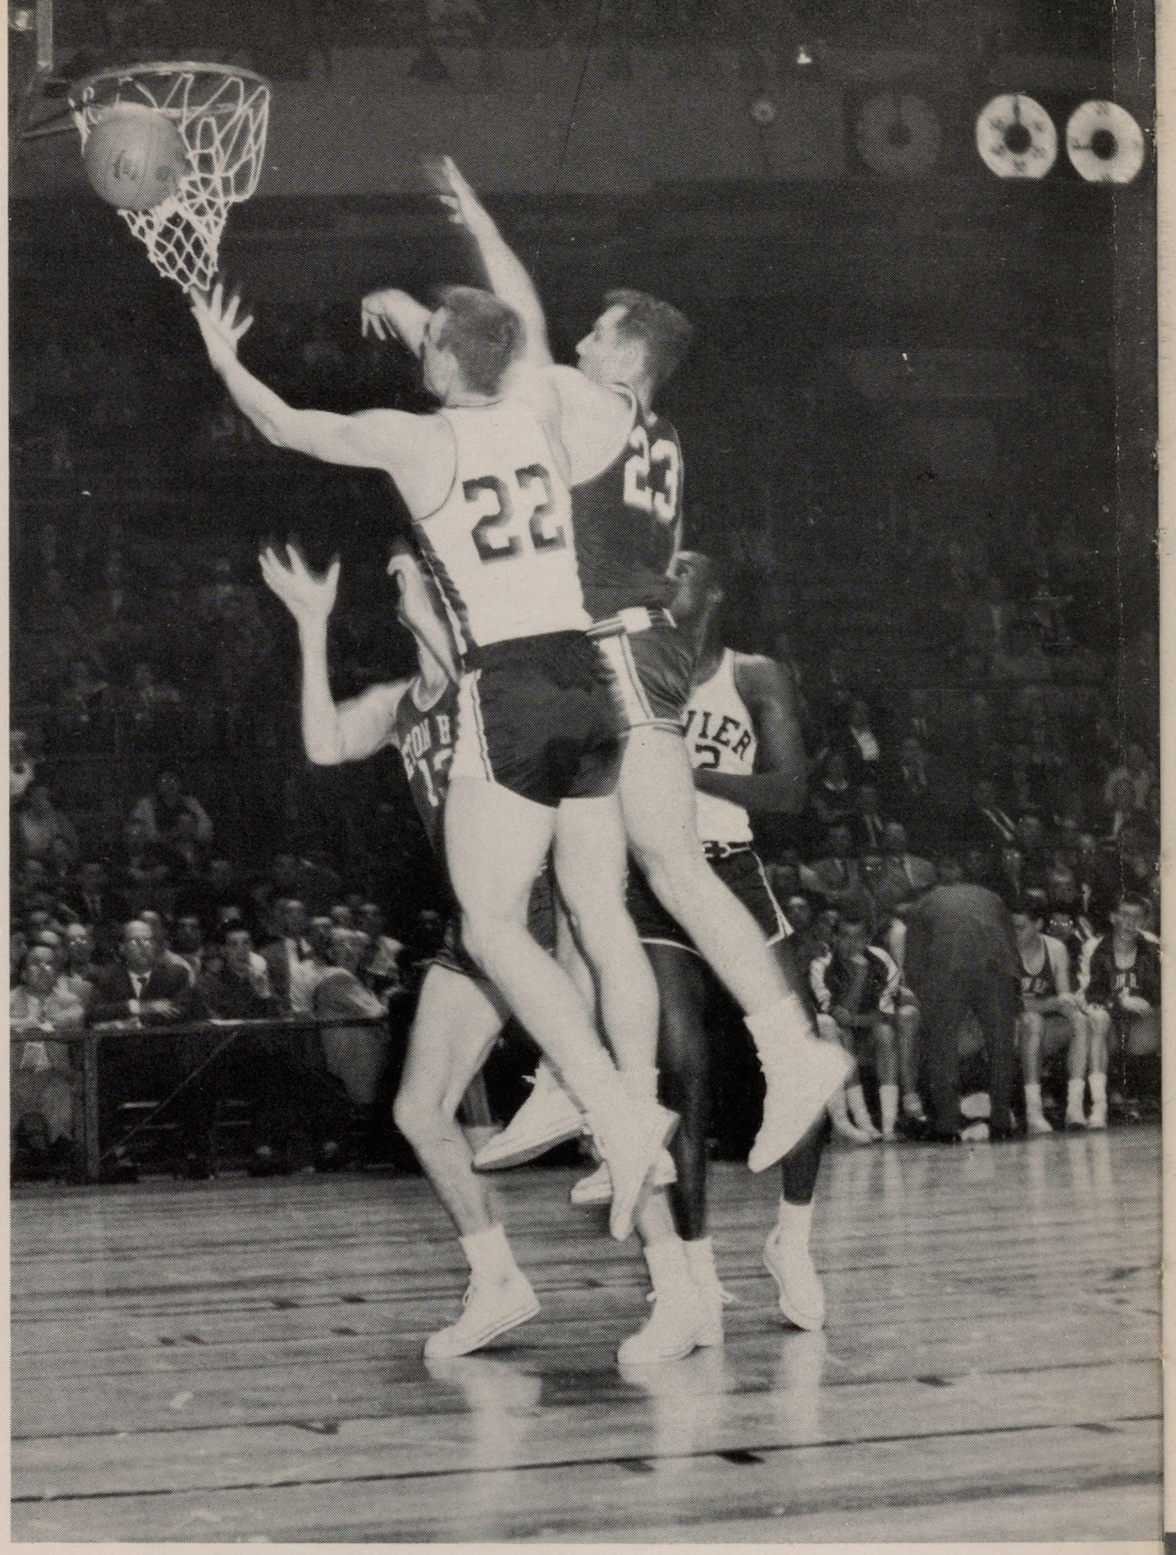

The Mules started first in the scoring column, and had built up an 8-2 lead before the Pirates caught up and went ahead 10-8. This was the last time the Hall would see the light of day in the game. The Halftime score was 37-30 in the Mules' favor. The Pirate shooting eye wasn't off, it wasn't even there. The big men for the Mules, Smith and Roth, scored at will on drives, while Gaines, Farrell, Chesney, and Lorenzo could not seem to find the range. Coach Russell used every player on the squad in a vain attempt to start the ball rolling for the Pirates but things didn't work out at all.

MARTY FARRELL and Ed Chesney almost tap in a bucket against the Mules. Pirates dropped a 76-65 decision at the Allentown school's gym.

DICK GAINES drives around Corny Freeman to lay one up and in backhanded. Viviano (41) and Stein (34) stand by watching.

SAMUELS (23), and Chesney (13) battle off the boards against Xavier. The Hall dropped their N.I.T. opener to the Musketeers, 85-79.

GAINES taps a rebound back to the waiting arms of Farrell as two Xavier defenders try to stop the play.

On March 16, 1957 Seton Hall University faced the Musketeers of Xavier University in the opening round of th 20th annual National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden. This marked the Pirates' seventh appearance in the Garden Classic in the past eleven seasons.

The Pirates had a tough battle right from the opening tap. Jimmy Boothe, Xavier's 5-7 sharpshooter, hit on a long set and Corny Freeman converted two fouls before Charlie Lorenzo made good on a jumper. The remainder of the opening stanza was marked by a brilliant display of Xavier marksmanship as Boothe, Hal Stein, and Freeman shot with unusual accuracy and the Hall wasn't able to close the gap. Xavier led by five at the half. The second half was almost a repetition of the first.

Midway in the second half, the Seton Hall contingent, paced by their high scoring playmaker Dick Gaines, began to click, and the Pirates forged ahead into a two point lead. The play was nip and tuck until disaster overtook the Hall as Gaines was forced to leave the game on fouls with four minutes remaining. Immediately following, the Musketeers gained the lead which they were never to relinquish, and the game ended with the Pirates on the short end of an 85-79 score, and with it, also ended the Hall's chances for a second N.I.T. crown.

Dick Gaines contributed 30 points to a losing cause, and remained as the highest single game scorer throughout the rest of the Tournament.

THE DORMITORY CORRIDOR becomes artists' workbench as seniors "Buzzy" Byrne, Fred Duffy and Dan Murray make preparation for the Seton Hall N.I.T. encounter.

pirates in the N. I. T.

LEAPING HIGH is Dick Gaines as he and Ed Chesney (13) try to wrest a rebound away from two unidentified Musketeers.

MARTY FARRELL tries unsuccessfully on a chippie as Stahl (31), for the Musketeers, and Berthasavage (8) for the Pirates wait for the rebound.

FATHER HAKIM, a constant rooter at all the games, cheers a Pirate score along with other happy Setonians at the N.I.T.

SAMUELS (23), and Farrell (12), get set to grab a rebound away from Xavier's Freeman (42).

SETON ROOTERS have anxious moments during the Xavier game.

DICK GAINES (9), drops in a long one hander against Xavier.

CORNY FREEMAN, the brilliant Xavier sophomore who holds the high jump record in the Ohio Valley Conference, lays it up and in despite Farrell's attempted defense. Freeman was a big man in Xavier's victory, as he almost completely dominated the boards.

JOHN ROWLEY battles for a rebound against the fabulous Tom Gola of Fort Monmouth. The Pirate frosh gave the soldiers a tough fight before bowing in their season opener.

FRESHMAN TEAM

Although they didn't quite live up to pre-season expectations, the Junior Pirates nevertheless gained valuable experience, as they closed out the season with a 16 and 10 record. During the campaign they gave Fort Monmouth (with Tom Gola) a real scare in their two encounters and split even with the N.Y.U. frosh, who are considered among the east's best freshman cage clubs.

The high scorer for the frosh was Seth Hicks who, along with Barry Epstein, Kev Hoey, and Jack Rowley, will be counted on heavily to fill the now vacant sneakers of the likes of Gaines, Farrell, Lorenzo, and Chesney. Also figuring in the scramble for next year's varsity squad will be ex-Hall Prepmen Tom O'Brien, Hugh Dunnion, and Connie Egan, as well as Ray Gulbin, Richie Kliminski, Bill Nelson, and Jim McClain.

SETH HICKS (21) nets two points against Fort Monmouth. Leaping along with Hicks are Tom Gola (50), and John Rowley (23).

soccer

The Seton Hall Varsity Soccer Team, under the guidance of a new mentor, Frank Boccia, entered the sport light of notables on the South Orange campus with unexpected prosperity. The once famous Seton Hall Booters, listing on their past rosters, such men as All-American Stan Ceir underwent a much needed operation to revive the drive and spirit that had made Soccer an outstanding varsity sport at the Hall.

Mr. Frank Boccia, former Panzer great, did an admirable job of coaching, as he forged together a well coordinated team which exhibited a great amount of hustle and determination to win. Under the coach's policy of stern conditioning, former All-State High School Soccermen and novices alike were synthesized into a well seasoned team which met with considerable success.

Assisted by Co-captain senior Fred Duffy at center forward, and Herman Kassel at left halfback, the team began to turn some of the previous defeats on the schedule into amazing victories. In their season opener, the Booters tied the Fairleigh Dickinson eleven by a 3-3 count, at the end of the regulation time. The Pirate team was defeated in overtime by a goal which was scored by the Knights in the final few seconds of play. Rider College handed the Booters their second loss of the season by a score of 1-0, but although depressed by their previous losses, the Pirates never stopped trying. The door to victory was swung wide as the Pirates triumphed over Fairleigh Dickinson, Fordham, and Drew University in quick succession. The Soccer Team wound up the season with a 5-4-2 slate, one of the best in some time.

Pirate standouts this past season were senior co-captains Fred Duffy and Herman Kassel, junior Mike Sheppard who has also won his Letter in Baseball and Swimming, Bryan Kelly, Bob Dalhauser, and Rudy Katzenberger.

track

For some time now Seton Hall has found it difficult to produce an outstanding track squad, but Coach John Gibson should have an easier task before him with the material he has to work with now. Although the past season did not show great prominence for the team collectively, the individual Pirate runners showed great promise of future success.

The indoor season for the Pirates placed them in a tough bracket of competition, when they ran in the Boston K. of C., the Millrose Games, the New York A. C. and many other games and matches along the east coast. The Pirates gave a good account of themselves as they took top honors in the mile relay, and placed high in individual events throughout the season.

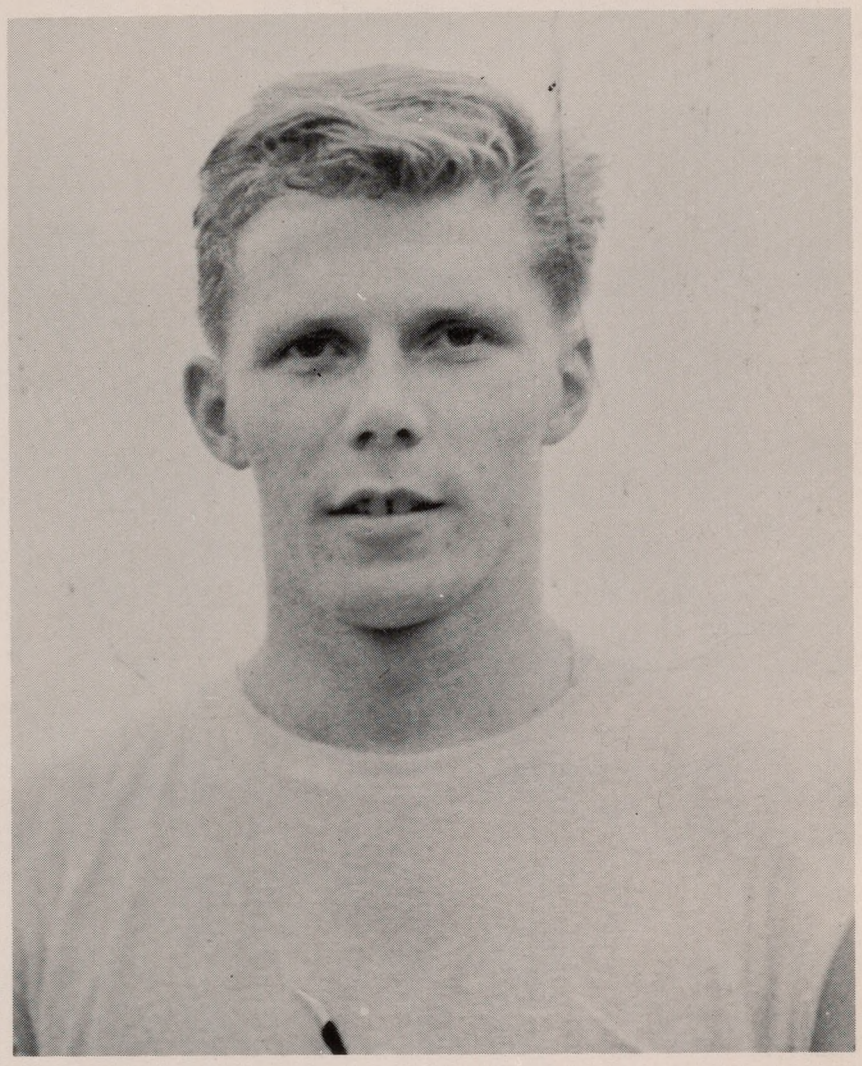

Running for Setonia in the mile relay were: Co-captain Tom Cahill, Ken Brown, Tierney O'Rourke, James Villa, and Walt Winfree. Co-captain Jack Heraut, Jack Kushner, Richie Hanna, James Vella, Frank Marusca, and Larry Gaunt ran on the two-mile relay team which placed third in the Philadelphia Enquirer meet.

In individual events, Bill Zykla and Walt Winfree placed 1 and 2 in the N.J.A.A.U. 60 yard high hurdles, Jack Kushner became the N.J.A.A.U. Champion in the 600 yard run, and Larry Gaunt placed third in the 1000 yard run.

The freshman team consisted of Bob Wherry, the N. J. champ in the 1000 yard run, Jim Schuster, Jim O'Neill, and Don Sharkey.

baseball

In their diamond activities last year, the Pirates registered a record of 13 wins and 7 losses to give Coach Ownie Carroll an overall record of 109 victories against 45 defeats, as he heads into his tenth year as helmsman on the Pirate ship.

The 1957 season looms as even more successful for the Hall, as they have essentially the same team on the field, with the exception of three men who were lost at graduation last year. The Pirates will take on a rough schedule, competing against some of the toughest teams in the east, however the veteran strength of the club should be one of the contributing factors to a highly prosperous campaign.

swimming

After an absence of five years swimming returned to Seton Hall last year, and as a result the Pirate mermen are still in the process of fusing together a club which can be considered a threat in future eastern swimming activities. Coach Harry McGarrigel, although faced with the problem of inexperience on his club, has nevertheless captured the enthusiasm of a determined group of young men, and has within his grasp the nucleus of a promising squad.

Five meets were scheduled for the Seton mermen this past season, and the Pirates had their work cut out for them as they had to face some of the strongest teams in the east. Formidible teams, such as Adelphi, N.Y.U., LaSalle, and Villanova had little trouble in putting down the weaker Pirates, but the Bucs managed to salvage a win when they vanquished St. Peters for the second successive season.

Bill Ferinden was the most outstanding performer on the squad, capturing laurels in the butterfly and backstroke events, and contributing handily in the Pirate medley relay which they took from the Peacocks. Captain Tony Capasso brought home individual honors off the high board, and Rudy Katzenberger took first place in the 50 yard freestyle event. The medley relay team was comprised of Bill Ferinden, Mike Sheppard, and Bob Lovvorn. The remainder of the team consisted of Joe Walsh, Adrian Prince, Jim Penders, and Rodney Goldman.

THE 1957 SETON HALL UNIVERSITY GOLF TEAM.

golf

Last season the golf team faced what was perhaps the toughest schedule ever arranged in the history of the Seton Hall squad, but the duffers came through it admirably, completing a winning season in the sixteen matches played. Coach Bud Geohegan is happy with the prospects for this year's golf team, and a quartet of veteran performers who have proved their worth in the past can be counted on to give a good account of themselves again this year. The team will be led by Jimmy Milway, a senior and captain of the club. Jim has compiled an excellent scoring average, and is considered an amateur player with the poise and mastery of the game which is found in many professionals.

Two other players on the squad who have made tremendous strides in improving their game over the past two years are Bob Cleveland, a senior, and Larry Parker, a junior, who is considered the most improved duffer on the squad. Rounding out the team are Bob Mras, Jack Gleason, Tom Battaglini, and George Koeck.

THE 1957 SETON HALL UNIVERSITY TENNIS TEAM.

tennis

The Seton Hall University Tennis Team engages in a tough schedule of intercollegiate competition that pits it against some of the major tennis powers in the east. Under the co-captainship of Bill Alexander and Jerry Kosmowski, the club has been groomed to a high degree of proficiency that enables it to stand up well against its strongest opponents.

Although tennis is not generally considered in the same category with other major varsity sports, it nevertheless maintains a high place in the Seton Hall Athletic Program.
